

Certificate of Completion

Congratulations on completing Harness the Power of Your Intergenerational Team, the professional development program for the professionals of American Structurepoint.

By participating in this program, you've mastered the skills of:

- Developing awareness and understanding of the different generations in the workforce today
- Identifying the defining experiences of each generation to foster increased appreciation for different working styles
- Engaging in meaningful conversation about how to leverage the value each generation brings to a team
